January 31 Is Farmers Social Security Deadline

Farmers have until January 31 to file reports on the Social Security taxes withheld from their employees' wages. W. T. Copping, District Director of Internal Revenue for Alabama said.

The reports should be filed on Form 943, Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees.

Mr. Copping said that any farmer who pays an employee cash wages of $150 or more a year must withhold Social Security taxes. Taxes must also be withheld on wages under $150 for any person hired 20 days or more a year.

Local farmers have this subject fresh on their minds as many of them have appeared before the internal revenue examiners in recent months to prove that they have paid the proper amount of Social Security during past years.

MEDICARE COST REMAIN SAME

The monthly premium older people pay for the voluntary medical insurance part of Medicare will remain at the present $4 through June 1970, Harry N. Scott, social security district manager, noted.

The premium covers half the cost of protection that helps pay doctor's and surgeons' bills and a variety of other health care expenses. The other half is paid out of Federal general revenues. Of the population aged 65 and over, 85 percent are not enrolled in the supplementary medical insurance program. This is because they were not enrolled when the Medicare program began on July 1, 1966.

A new enrollment period opened January 1, Scott said, and will provide another chance for people who missed out earlier to sign up for the protection. For some — those who were enrolled but dropped out before January 1, 1967 — yet signed up for the supplementary doctor bill insurance will be receiving application blanks in the mail soon. If they have any questions about how to fill them out or about Medicare itself, of if they do not receive a form, the people in the social security office will be glad to help them.

sign up will not be able to get the coverage at all. He estimated that the period between now and March 31 will be the last chance to enroll for about two out of three persons 65 and over who are not yet enrolled for the supplementary protection. Many of the elderly people in this area who have not yet signed up for the supplementary doctor bill insurance will be receiving application blanks in the mail soon. If they have any questions about how to fill them out or about Medicare itself, of if they do not receive a form, the people in the social security office will be glad to help them.

Labor Survey Set For This Weekend

The survey to determine the availability of labor within a 25 mile radius of Elba will take place Friday January 24 and Saturday January 25.

The survey was requested by a large rubberized apparel manufacturer which has shown a strong interest in locating a plant in Elba that would employ approximately 400 people.

Registration points will be set up on January 24 and 25 between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. in the City Hall of Elba.

My finances are getting in such a mess, you would think I was getting advice from the government. Dale Holdridge, The Langford (S. Dak.) Bugle

Mrs. Tanton Selected Member Council

Howard J. Samuels, administrator of the Small Business Administration, today announced in Washington the appointment of Mary Tanton as a member of the Alabama Advisory Council for the Small Business Administration.

Paul R. Brunson, Regional Director of SBA's Birmingham Regional Office noted that Mrs. Tanton became interested in business and professional activities, serving in all offices of the local church, as well as district offices.

In 1950, she served as Grand Chaplain in the Order of the Eastern Star, state of Alabama. In 1954, elected Associate Grand Conductress, advancing each year, being elected Worthy Grand Matron of the State of Alabama in 1958. In 1960 she was selected as one of the outstanding women of Alabama.

standing women of Alabama with the request that Mrs. Tanton has traveled extensively in and out of the states. In 1963, she traveled through Europe, going to Rome, Paris, London and the Holy Land.

She was operating a flower business in Uniontown at the time she and Rev. A. B. Tanton were married and moved to New Brockton. Although she isn't active in business at present, she still has business connections in which she is interested.

City Council Discusses Local Problems

The Elba City Council held its regular meeting on Monday night at the City Hall. All members were present.

Leroy Lawford appeared with a request that the City allow him to close the extension of Garrett Street that cuts through a plot of land he had subdivided. A motion was made to approve this closing but died due to the lack of a second. Several councilmen later explained that they had failed to go along with the motion because of the legality of the action was unclear to them. They then discussed the problem with the City Attorney and find out where the city stood legally in this matter.

The council then watched a demonstration of a new garbage truck and upon returning to the council chamber, voted to accept the new truck. A later council meeting on a new truck to mount a "jacker type" garbage truck.

The council discussed the many torn up streets in town and formally plans to start repaving these streets in town. The paving will begin as soon as the sewer contract is complete in April.

The City requested the help of County Commissioner Flournoy Whitman on clearing a drainage ditch along the railroad. This project was to help Dorsey Trailers to continue crossing the railroad a places other than roads.

The council discussed the drain pipe project at Elba High School. They asked City Clerk Harris Winston to check and find out if any funds had been authorized for the purchase of this drain pipe.

The council then launched a lengthy discussion into the police department with Chief Smart. Smart reported that he had instructed the patrolmen to be sure they were keeping constant patrols around the local businesses during the night hours as well as checking traffic.

Chief Smart was interrupted by the radio operator and told that the police had just discovered the break-in at Cook Chevrolet and Daniel's Service Station.

"It's like Nero fiddling while Rome burned," said councilman Mace Cook, after the council meeting was interrupted with news that the police had found two more break-ins that occurred while the council was discussing ways to prevent more crimes in town.

Thieves Mar Peace Of Mind In Elba

A rash of break-ins and robberies of local businesses and homes was highlighted over the weekend. Thieves broke into the Elba Big Bear and Southeast Alabama Gas Co. on Saturday night, pried open the safe of both businesses, and made off with over $100 in cash. The Big Bear reported the loss of about $950 while the Gas Co. reported the loss of $178 in cash. The break-in was discovered by a passing motorist on Sunday morning.

On Monday night, thieves again visited two local businesses. They broke into Cook Chevrolet and Daniel's Service Station.

"It's like Nero fiddling while Rome burned," said councilman Mace Cook, after the council meeting was interrupted with news that the police had found two more break-ins that occurred while the council was discussing ways to prevent more crimes in town.

Record Steel Imports from Japan in 1968

Steel shipments from Japan accounted for nearly 40 percent of the record-shattering 13.5 million tons of steel mill products imported into the United States in the first nine months of 1968. American Iron and Steel Institute reported on the basis of U.S. Department of Commerce figures. The nine-month total of imports was greater than for any full year in history.

The Institute also reported a sharp increase in imports of pig iron. For the first nine months, pig iron imports totaled 543,358 tons, 44 percent higher than the corresponding period in 1967.

Steel imports through the latter part of 1968, in which over $80 million in new business was produced, Mr. and Mrs. Martin have recently returned from Birmingham where they were honor guests at a company banquet.

With Ferrin Cox

We heard through the grapevine Monday that someone was highly insulted by our last week's statement about LBJ. Of course this did not change our opinion but we also respect the opinion of those who disagree with us and promise not to challenge them to a duel to decide just who is right.

Those who want more gun control laws have come up with an idea that has gained the support of several of the anti-gun law groups. They have suggested that a law be passed making a five year prison term mandatory upon conviction of any crime in which a gun was used. Several states have such laws and several others are considering such laws. We can not see that this would restrict nor trouble any honest sportsmen or citizen protecting his life or family.

In the borders of the pad we use to make notes at the city council meetings, we found the following short remarks on Tuesday morning: Sawyer - no snacks; Cook - quasi; long meetings, good interest. We made the notes during the meeting Monday night and will explain them now. The first one about Councilman Sawyer and the snacks means that he failed to bring the customary package of candy and cookies for the council and this writer to nibble on during the meeting. These snacks had become the accepted thing and everyone missed them when he appeared without them. Anyone who has been anywhere with Sawyer knows that he almost always has something to eat somewhere close around. Cook-Quasi was a note to ask Councilman Cook if he remembered the meaning of the word from the last council meeting. It appeared in a legal notice and he looked it up to find the meaning. We failed to ask as the meeting was interrupted to go to the scene of the burglaries. Long meetings - good interest; summed up our thoughts on the extended meetings of the local city council. The councilmen spend much time asking simple and complicated questions concerning matters before the council. This is good for the citizens of Elba. The more these men understand about a matter, the less likely they are to make an error when they vote on matters that affect you and me.

the work of the many people who have been seeking industry for Elba will be for naught if there are not enough people signing up during the survey. This is not an application for employment just an expression of opinion that you are available for this work in Elba. Sign up, the entire area will profit from it.

Another thing we like is the efforts of Governor Brewer in trying to get the rates reduced on the telephones in Southeast Alabama. These rates are the highest in the United States and this is absurd. The service is not that good. Our grapevine tells us that the telephone people can see what is about to happen and are offering to resend the current rates if the Public Service Commission will promise to grant a smaller increase. This will not insure any improvement of services nor would it leave any incentive for the company to improve them. This could be imposed on them by the legislature passing a law allowing cities to form non-profit telephone exchanges in any town in Alabama. This could be the necessary action to get satisfactory telephone service in the area served by General Telephone Company.

Jus' Ramblin'

LAST WEEK we lost "Angel" our favorite cat. This week "Charlie" was apparently hit by a car on the highway but was not killed. We had checked on him that night but could not find him the next morning so apparently he has dragged himself off somewhere and hid. Right now we don't know if he is dead or alive. And "disappeared" is "Midge" the youngest of our cats and I guess a freak. She is small in size and that accounts for her name. She is old enough to be several times the size she is. There is a possibility that she is with Charlie taking care of him since we have found that to be the action of our cats in the past. But that leaves Panther, a black cat that was run over by a car on the highway several months ago and was able to live. He was apparently hit across the back end and he dragged himself to the house with his front feet. We fed him for a week putting his food right under his face and he recovered but walks funny and is flat looking in the back but otherwise normal and would have been a beautiful cat with bright yellow eyes. We had shut up the mamma cat, Mittens, because we didn't approve of her boy friends. That leaves Panther all alone and he spends all his time crying and under foot. I can't get an inch away from him when in the yard hunting the other two.

This has been a cat and dog nightmare week at our house.

Yoga the big German Shepherd, insists on "boy friends" so she has been isolated for awhile and she cries. One night this week we threatened to leave home. Mittens was following her head off and standing at the screen door looking at "Big-Shot", the big Tom cat, which is standing right outside the door looking in and softly talking to "Mittens." During this time Yoga is howling and barking her head off not apparently so she couldn't see out and bark at everything that moved.

Anybody want the cats we have left? We're disgusted. Hunting cats in the rain is not at all funny.

08th annual convention. The convention program and activities sounds exciting. But according to the weather this winter Huntsville does not sound very exciting in February to two south Alabama newspaper folk.

I WAS FAVORABLY impressed with Senator Alton Turner on a news conference panel last week on television from Montgomery. The conference concerned the recommendations of the Alabama Education Study Commission. The Alabama Education Study Commission has recommended a "tax package" which would produce from $37 million to $127 million in new revenue each year.

I'm expecting some real war in the Legislature this year when the problem of increasing taxes comes before them and the people back home are going to be at their throats, I have an idea.

There is the possibility that the sales tax will be increased, income tax increase and ad valorem taxation will affect a lot of people. The Commission's study report places major emphasis on the ad valorem tax and are asking for statewide assessment of property at 50 per cent of market value. But the Commission is asking for an increase in state income and sales tax as well as the ad valorem tax increase.

There is no question that Alabama schools need more money or a better handling of what education money is already being collected. I agree with some of the members of the legislature that the people of Alabama need to know more about how the money already being paid in is being used and where it is going.

Apparently Senator Turner is well familiar with the Commission's report and some of the recommendations he is not going to approve of. We'll all be watching the legislature when the recommendations of the Alabama Education Study Commission are being voted on.

Stamp Collectors Must Act Soon For Special

Manned Spacecraft Recovery Forces of the U.S. Navy will provide collectors with "Recovery-Day" cachet and cancellation services for the upcoming Apollo 9 manned space flight.

To permit adequate time for required handling of covers, collectors should mail pre-stamped, self-addressed envelopes to reach the appropriate coordinator prior to the 13 February. Covers received after this deadline will be cancelled at Norfolk or San Francisco.

Due to popularity of this service and postal facility limitations on recovery ships, the coordinator for Task Force 140 will accept only 6 envelopes while Task Force 130 will accept 8 covers from each individual collector.

Addresses for Atlantic and Pacific area coordinators are:

ATTEND THE CHURCH

Deep in the human heart is the desire for greater and wider vision. It prompted early man to climb the trees and to scale the peaks. Every year it lures thousands to the top of the Empire State Building. It inspired the telescope and microscope, and eventually radar.

Similar to this yearning for vision, yet sacred in its powerful prompting, has been man's spiritual quest. Although there is much natural evidence around us to prove there is a God, we want to understand His mind, His power and will... His heart!

No human inventions are needed here. In the Church established by Jesus Christ, in the Truth taught by Jesus Christ, in the Life inspired by Jesus Christ... each of us finds that wider vision his soul craves.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a substructure of spiritual vision. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Guardsmen Training As Weathemen

Alabama National Guardsmen are being trained by the United States Weather Bureau to report on severe weather conditions in local areas, according to Major General Alfred C. Harrison, The Adjutant General of Alabama.

Severe weather training classes sponsored by the Alabama Department of Civil Defense are presently being conducted in eleven major cities throughout the state.

The weather training received by the Guardsmen will enable them to report meteorological conditions which may be an indication of severe weather. These reports will assist the U. S. Weather Bureau in preparing accurate weather advisories and warnings by supplementing their instrument readings with on-site observations.

The meeting of the New Hope Jr. High Club was held Wednesday, January 15, in the library at 9:45 a.m. The boys and girls met together.

The meeting was called to order by Nancy Bowman. After some songs led by Maxine Lewis, Debra Norton, Bobby Bowman and Jim Stockman, the devotion was given by Joe Ann Screman. The Pledges to the American Flag and our 4-H Pledge was led by Wade Wilson. The rolls were called by Margie Downing and Roy Alcuri. Two girls and one boy were absent. The boys had a new member, Jimmy Green. Mr. Lowery, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Presley and Miss Sanders were also present. The minutes were read by Margie Downing and Roy Alcuri. They were approved.

There was no old business. The new business was about the lamp program. The program was introduced by Wade Wilson. It was on "What Can Happen When You Turn The Rev. DRY NAILS INCREASE WITH AGEING

Finger and toe nails that peel, split and break can be both a disturbing physical and appearance problem. Senior citizens chiefly have this trouble. Nail flexibility depends primarily on the amount of moisture retained.

Because of low winter temperature outside and heating inside, humidity drops, permitting the surrounding air to absorb moisture from the skin, leading to excessive dryness. Avoid contacts with drying liquids and over-night massage a good nourishing cream into the skin and on the nails.

Study Commission Report Shows Education Needs Many $$

Editor's Note: Last week, the Education Study Commission issued its report on the needs of Alabama schools. What follows is the first of three articles analyzing the Commission's recommendations. The series is being written exclusively for Alabama Press Association member newspapers by Don Wasson, Political Writer for The Montgomery Advertiser.

A vast plan to overhaul Alabama's education system and to give it a firm financial base was unveiled to the public last week. It will cost, over the next 10 years, over $1 billion.

The work of the Education Study Commission, the plan was the result of a year-long probe into every facet of education in Alabama. The Commission was headed by Auburn University President Dr. Harry Philpott and its executive director was Dr. H. Bascomb Woodward, on loan from the University of Alabama.

The Commission set as an immediate goal new revenue financing of $75 million, a major use of which would be for a 20 per cent pay increase for teachers. That move alone would cost $35.6 million.

And to pay for the upgrading of the quality of education Alabama school children receive, the Commission presented a tax package which would raise anywhere from $37 million to $127 million a year in new revenues.

The job of passing the tax increases, if any are to be passed, will be up to the state legislature. And the willingness of the legislature to pass the tax increases will depend in large measure on public support of the Commission's recommendations.

In this article, the major recommendations of the Commission, simply those requiring new taxes, will be discussed. In a second article next week, the tax proposals and how much they would raise will be discussed. And in a final article, two weeks from now, the other major recommendations of the Commission will be examined. These will include matters of school administration, organization, and scope of education and matters concerning higher education.

There are 14 recommendations which carry specific price tags. In addition to the $35.6 million pay raise for teachers, the Commission recommends the addition of 4,565 additional teachers to school faculties in order to bring the teacher-pupil ratio down to 1 to 25. To reach this goal would cost $35.8 million.

Alabama teachers, the report states, continue to be among the lowest paid in the nation. In 1967-68, the average classroom teacher's salary was $5,725. This places the state average far below the national average than at any time in recent history. Classroom teachers themselves testified during the Commission hearings that almost as important as pay increases is the reduction of classroom load. A teacher is nowhere near as effective, they say, as she can be when there are no more than 25 students in her class. Any increase in class size and the quality of instruction drops off rapidly.

Another big expense item is the recommendation that schools be allotted $45 per pupil in their average daily attendance, for other current expenses. This category includes teaching equipment, supplies and personnel other than teachers, such as maintenance, janitors and maids. Present state allocation is $1 per pupil. Total cost of the $27 increase would be $21,791,250.

And the Commission also recommends funding for one teacher unit out of 16 (over and above the teacher units the school is awarded on the basis of its average daily attendance) to be used for other educational personnel. At present, the Minimum Fund Program provides only for classroom teachers.

Other personnel can be provided only through the use of supplemental local funds or by using earned teacher units. When teacher units are used to provide counselors, librarians, or even principals, then the classroom size must necessarily be increased.

The single largest price tag on any of the Commission's recommendations came in the area of senior and junior colleges. The study group recommended that these institutions be granted the entire amount of their increased budget requests for the 1969-70 fiscal year. That amounts to $70.3 million.

But the Commission calls 1969 a "year of decision" as far as continued progress in state colleges and universities is concerned. The state is apportioning an average of $120 less in state funds per student this year than it was five years ago.

"Budgets can be trimmed no further -- all cuts have been made and as a result quality has suffered," the report stated.

Briefly, these are the other "money" recommendations of the study: a removal of the six-year portability, including a 20 per cent pay increase for bus drivers.

--$3.6 million for the free textbook program to assure adequate texts and a limit on changing texts.

--$2.7 million for trade schools to add additional technical staff members and two "basic education" teachers to each trade school for those students deficient in reading, spelling and arithmetic.

--$2.5 million for rehabilitation instruction for crippled children and adults.

--$536,000 for the first year cost of increased classes for the trainable mentally retarded.

--$440,000 for salary increments to those teachers qualifying for a AA certificate which represents two years of graduate work.

--$300,000 for financing a Coordinating Commission on Higher Education which would promote the highest quality of higher education by continuous planning, by defining the role and scope of each institution of higher learning and by coordinating the budget requests of all such institutions.

--$75,000 for a permanent continuing Education Study Commission.

In addition to these recommendations, the Commission recommended $5,000,000 in capital outlay funds for purchasing 320 new buses for the state junior colleges and 292 buses for the trade schools.

And, over a 10 year period, the Commission recommends other capital outlays totalling $695,918,453.

Most of this total -- $390 million -- would go into elementary and secondary school buildings. $169 million would go to senior colleges and universities, $46 million to the University of Alabama Medical Center, $41 million to the state junior colleges and $12.8 million to the trade schools.

NEXT: The tax proposals, how it all could be financed.

ON SCHOOL ISSUE

Drexel Cook Speaks Out

The report of the Education Study Commission has been released for several weeks now and almost everyone has formed some opinions about the report. The group that will be forced to have an opinion is the state legislators, Monday with this in mind, we questioned Coffee County's Voice in the House of Representatives, Drexel Cook, who is also a close personal friend of Governor Brewer.

"Cook was first asked, 'Where do you stand on the issue of schools?' He quickly replied, 'I don't see how anyone could seriously be against better schools and better paid teachers.' Cook continued, 'I predict that the next legislature will come out with a substantial school package, but in order for the public to support more tax for schools, they will expect and should get, an ever increasing quality in education.'

"No tax will meet with everyone's approval, but I believe that the Governor and the members of the legislature, working together, can work out legislation that will be satisfactory to the majority of the people of Alabama. Cook said he continued with, 'The only way the Alabama legislature can raise additional tax is through additional taxation and it must have the public support to do this.'

Representative Cook said that he recognized the need for increased teacher pay in view of the ever increasing cost of living. He also stressed the necessity of reducing the pupil workload as one step in upgrading the quality of an Alabama education.

Cook was also asked how he felt the money should be raised. He said, 'I could not support a general sales tax increase, or a blanket 50% property tax adjustment. I am against the income tax adjustment suggested by the Study Commission as the working man would pay it all but feel that a good portion of any increase could come from the income tax source.'

Senator Lolley Sponsors Law About Utilities

A new law, sponsored by Senator Ray Lolley of Enterprise, will be introduced in the next session of the Alabama legislature concerning the rights of public utility companies.

Lolley is quoted as saying that he has already prepared a bill to limit to 10% the amount of a rate increase a utility company can put into effect under a court-allowed bond.

Alabama Co-Op Enters 25th Year

Alabama Electric Cooperative this year enters its 25th year of operation. The electric generating and transmission cooperative will observe its silver anniversary by putting operation its new steam generating plant in Washington County near Jackson.

Actually the Alabama Electric has been organized for nearly 28 years. It was first organized in 1941 with its founder Maury McWilliams as its first president. McWilliams remained president until his death in 1966.

Before the newly formed organization could complete plans to construct and operate generation facilities World War II brought a halt to non-defense construction.

Electrical wiring, which contains a large amount of copper, was especially difficult to obtain during the war years.

The main order of business was receiving a legal opinion from the City Attorney concerning the requested closing of the Garfield Street extension by the City of Elba.

After hearing the legal opinion of City Attorney Garth Lindsey the council reportedly rejected the request by a vote of three to two.

With a $20 million expansion and modernization program received during the year, Alabama Electric this year enters a second era of service to a large number of customers in Alabama.

Police Have Solved Six Break-Ins

Police Chief Jack Smart stated this week that he has a confession to the rash of break-ins in Elba recently. The break-ins are being investigated by an off resident who is currently in the Covington County Jail on similar charges from Opelika.

The man has been confessed to breaking into the Elba Western Auto twice, Daniels Standard twice, Cook Chevrolet and Williams Texaco. He claims to have had nothing to do with the robbery at the Big Bear or Southeast Gas Company.

Chief Smart states that the local police are continuing their investigation of these later cases.

Mr. Brunson expressed his appreciation on behalf of the City to Mrs. R. H. Lee, Survey Coordinator, the Civic and Business Clubs and individuals whose participation made this survey an outstanding success.

Further discussions with officials of the potential new industry are now in progress.

Teachers Needed For Mentally Retarded Groups

Since 1959 when a special teacher training program began, 300 persons have gone on to work with mentally retarded children in Alabama schools.

The Special Education Department in the College of Education will graduate another 50 in this field this coming June commencement.

FILL IT UP was the pass word for the last several weeks as workmen hauled dirt into the old pond land the Elba Elementary school to make way for a playground. It was also to remove the danger of children falling into the deep water and drowning. Workmen report that almost 50,000 yards of dirt have been hauled into the area at present. The pond was reportedly 20 feet deep and there were some fish in it.

City Council Holds Special Call Meeting

The Elba City Council held a special call meeting on Monday night. This meeting was called to discuss the proposed closing of the Garfield Street extension by the City of Elba.

After hearing the legal opinion of City Attorney Garth Lindsey the council reportedly rejected the request by a vote of three to two.
